

The philosophy of The Creative Curriculum® is that young children learn best by doing. The Creative Curriculum® is built on theories of development in young children, that all children learn through active exploration of their environment and therefore the environment plays a critical role in learning.

At the heart of The Creative Curriculum... the individual strengths, needs, and interests of each child.

The education of children based upon three types of information • child development and how children learn • the individual strengths, needs, and interests of each child • each child's family and community cultures

Each level of Child Care embraces the ten (10) areas of Learning/Experience:

- Dramatic Play
- Blocks
- Manipulative Toys/Games
- Art
- Sensory
- Library
- Music & Movement
- Cooking
- Outdoors/Gym
- Discovery Science

TLC uses the Creative Curriculum philosophy to make a meaningful difference in the lives of young children and their families.

<https://teachingstrategies.com/our-approach/our-38-objectives>